

Lucian Lauerman

Head of FX Data Services

Based in London, Lucian Lauerman is responsible for the strategic growth of the firm's corporate offering, which delivers cutting-edge foreign exchange technologies and services to leading companies around the world.

Bringing with him more than 20 years' experience in the financial services industry, he joined OANDA from Saxo Bank, most recently serving as Global Head of Electronic Distribution following a term as Head of the API Business. However, he has previously worked with several prestigious institutions including Lloyds Banking Group, GL Trade – Capital Markets Solutions and FNX Limited.

Lucian holds a BA in International Relations from Saint Joseph's.

Short intro for media spokespeople page

Based in London, Lucian Lauerman is responsible for the strategic growth of the firm's corporate offering, which delivers cutting-edge foreign exchange technologies and services to leading companies around the world.